To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is to recommend to you unreservedly Tom A. Martin of Dunamis Consulting. I have used Tom's services personally as a Professional Coach a number of times in the last 12 months. These sessions included six one-to-one consultations and one Play of Life role-play presentation and analysis. All of these sessions have been personally affirming and very constructive. They have allowed me to both recognise and act upon strengths and weaknesses in my character and approach to life and work.

Upon personal recommendation, I had contacted Tom because of a feeling of stagnation and lack of direction in my career. I was looking for advice and suggestions for making a change. The coaching sessions have enabled me to determine answers to these things for myself and to more clearly see a path forward. The effects of which have been very positive. Whilst I have not actually changed career, I have made a very positive change in the effectiveness of my role – making me both more useful to my company and improving my own self-worth in the position I am in.

Tom did not make the suggestions himself, but was able to draw me into deriving them logically from my own self-knowledge. He has a very approachable personality that makes it easy in a short time to disclose and discuss personal matters with confidence of discretion and respect. I have no hesitation in recommending him as a personal coach and would have no hesitation in using him for any commercial needs of the company.

Yours sincerely,

Dr Peter R. Shelton
